Cancer Can Strike Anyone Join Crusade To Conquer It

"Cancer Can Strike Anyone." Under the above slogan Mrs. Edward Luther, chairman for Keeseville and a committee of some twenty humanitarian minded Keeseville women will open the campaign in this village Monday to collect funds for the American Cancer Society to use in its fight to conquer the dreaded cancer.

Watch Those Fires Save Fireladdies Needless Injuries

With the arrival of Spring and clean-up time and the desire of folks to burn over dried grass so it will come up green with the showers the members of the Keeseville Volunteer Fire Department are getting extra particular activity—and that treats the condition much too lightly. No less than a half dozen fires, only one of which was not the result of carelessness, were extinguished in as many days in hasty runs by the department, valuable property having been threatened. In each case fast runs of the department snipped the possibility of damage. Chief Halsey Shields appeals to folks who start fires for the burning of brush to locate them in cleaned places preferably incinerators, where there is no possibility of their spreading into dried grass or leaves, never to start them when the wind is blowing, have water at hand should the fire get out of hand, keep an old, wet broom handy in case they do and to watch them constantly and see to it before they are left that all embers have burned completely out. The fire laddies are eager and anxious to serve the public and your reports have not heard the slightest grumble from them for being called to fires which could have been avoided. However they do not want their high rating for fire abatement injured. In Wilmington Tuesday a fireman received a fractured skull as he attempted to board a fire truck in answer to a grass fire and he is now in a serious condition in the Lake Placid General Hospital. Watch all fire hazards, in and out of doors.

Challenge To Mothers Created By Community Boys Who Desire Help

Affairs have so far progressed that boys in Keeseville and vicinity, who are desirous of so doing, may sign up for Cub Packs, a number having signified their intention at the regular weekly meeting Wednesday evening. There is now a need of Den Pack mothers. According to the manner in which the Cub Pack is operated, six or eight Cubs meet weekly with their den mother who teaches them the preparatory steps to Scouting. It is usually arranged so that these younger boys live in the neighborhood of the mother so that travel in the evening is no great distance. Women, who really want to do something for their community can well enlist in this work of molding youth and those so interested should contact Scoutmaster Thomas Lesperance at once. Some thirty Cubs are anxiously awaiting a mother's supervision and, if this community can be depended upon, there should be many more mothers anxious to serve than there are Cubs to take care of. Here is a chance to help boys "up" so that their interest is focused on the finer things of life rather than being left to drift into those things which lead to juvenile delinquency. This is the definite responsibility of the mother of every boy in this community and cannot be neglected if youth is to be served for betterment in life. There is no doubt but that women will step forward to this challenge in more numbers than are needed. If not it is probable that a suggested list will be carried in next week's issue of this paper. An hour a week can help build fine morals, an understanding of the American way of life, democracy and the application of ideals in a boy's every day life.

Poem Contest

As a result of the national poem contest sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of Court St. Frances Xavier Cabrini, No. 1482, three poems of the winners will be sent to compete in the national prize of $50. The winners in the local contest were as follows: First, Elaine Davey, whose poem was titled "Immaculate Conception School"; second, Jack Robare, "St. John's Convent"; third, Shirley Finnegan, "Immaculate Conception School." A Chapel Prayer By Elaine Davey, 4th grade, 8 years of age. Let us go into the chapel To say a little prayer To the Infant Jesus Who is waiting for us there. He loves to have little children Kneel before Him there Telling Him a little story In a silent, watchful prayer. So go into the little chapel Visit Him each day. He in the tabernacle Will take your troubles away. Ours of Thanks We wish to express our heartfelt gratitude for the kindness and sympathy extended to us in our bereavement. For the generous offering of flowers and cars. Mrs. Samuel Pelkey Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Redmond Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pulsifer Eugene Pelkey Jr. Eugene Pelkey

School Easter Vacation Schools of the Keeseville Central School District closed at noon Wednesday for the Easter vacation and will reopen on Monday morning April 25.

Because the dates set for the campaign for raising funds for the Cancer Society conflicted with pre-Easter devotions, Mrs. Luther decided to hold off the opening of the campaign to next week and make a concentrated effort in the two remaining weeks rather than extend it over the entire month of April. When one of these volunteer soldiers of the Cancer Society calls at your home, be ready with the response to the cause to fight to the last inch the ever increasing disease which has thus far defied the efforts of scientists to find its cause or cure. There isn't a home in Keeseville but what in some generation hellish cancer has not invaded. Young and old out of sanitary or unsanitary homes are struck down with equal disregard for persons, regardless of their station in life. How many persons do you, the reader of this story know who have died from cancer? No home in Keeseville should refuse all possible help to the Cancer Society if research work is to continue for the protection of the members under its roof. Every home and every person should make some contribution to this great humanitarian cause for the preservation of mankind. Mrs. Luther, as chairman, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Long as treasurer will have the following Keeseville women assisting her the next two weeks in an effort that Keeseville do its part—"Give to Conquer Cancer."

Testing Size of Nickels The United States Mint in Philadelphia is using the nationwide telephone system as an invaluable ally in the production of its five cent pieces. Thus reports a telephone man who took a trip to the Mint recently and observed the testing of the pickle coins. He saw workers grab handfuls of new nickels and drop them, one by one, into the nickel slot of a coin telephone located there. He was told that this is one of the tests for the correct size of the coin. If the nickels work in the telephone, they're judged to be all right.
